REPORT OF THE MEDICAL OFFICER OF HEALTH FOR THE YEAR 1973

The production of the Annual Report has been a statutory responsibility of every Medical Officer of Health. In recent years it has been customary to attribute to the Chief Public Health Inspector the parts of the Annual Report for which he has been mainly responsible.

The Chief Medical Officer of the Department of Health and Social Security, when he wrote reminding Medical Officers of Health of the need to produce an Annual Report for 1973, stated-

"Annual Reports have always been - for Councils, for Departments, and for others who refer to them - a valued source of detailed information about public health matters, the progress achieved and problems encountered from year to year in the area. However, the reorganisation of the Health Services and of local government make them inappropriate in their present form and, accordingly, the Annual Reports for 1973 will be the last of their kind. The statutory requirement for the Reports ceases with the repeal of the Public Health Officers' Regulations on 1 April 1974 under the Local Government Act 1972.

"Clearly the coming reorganisation of local government involves difficulties for the production of Reports for 1973. One problem is that the vital statistics for inclusion in Reports are not available from the Office of Population Censuses and Surveys before April."

The services provided by the Dorset Local Health Authority continued as in 1972, so the details given in the 1972 Annual Report apply for 1973 with only one addition. The British Red Cross Society, who have for so long run the chiropody service for the elderly, have now handed over the organisation of the chiropody clinics to the Local Health Authority, although Red Cross members still help at local clinics.

During the year, your Medical Officer of Health and Chief Public Health Inspector have been involved with planning for the changeover on the 1st April 1974. However, some of the work of the Public Health Inspectorate, vigilant to safeguard standards of hygiene and prevent environmental pollution is recorded in the pages which follow.

Because of the need for speed in producing the Report, the format is based on that for 1972.
